1910 Middle-aged Jasper and Lettie McKy, with their son, 27-year old Glen, landed in Josephine County in 1910 from Idaho. When they first came to Josephine County they stayed at Hellgate on the Rogue River. After the first night at Hellgate Glen awoke the next morning, went up the mountain and killed a big buck.¹ The McKys were not 1850s pioneers, but still pioneers in every sense of living an independent rural life.

The Jasper McKy Family, Hugo Settlers: 1910 - 19??

1910s The McKys thought Hugo was a going concern. In 1913 it had three brand new buildings: the railroad section house, railroad depot, and school. It also had a church, post office, grocery store, boarding house, and especially important to Glen McKy, a baseball team. Mr. William "Bill" McKenzie ran the store called the Hugo Supply Company. The McCormicks ran the boarding house/hotel which rented rooms and would give you a meal if you wanted one.¹

Glen was a major player on the Hugo baseball team, and as good a player as they had. Glen McKy taught 13-year old Orville Dingler to pitch and "out" and an "in."²
